

Long Island Lutheran Middle & High School (LuHi) is an independent Christian school serving students in grades 6-12 from Nassau, Suffolk, and Queens counties in New York. Our academics, arts, athletics, and campus ministry work together to support the growth and development of each young man and woman to become all who God intends them to be. LuHi's core values of Christian Love, Excellence, Community, and Family undergird the daily work of each member of the LuHi community, as we work together to support students in becoming compassionate and educated leaders.

LuHi seeks a Spanish teacher to fill a part-time leave for roughly the first half of the school year. The leave replacement is expected to span the first semester of the school year, from late August through mid-December or late January (details to be finalized).

LuHi is a caring and rigorous environment that seeks to blend student development in academics, spiritual life, the arts, and athletics. The ideal candidate sees themselves as a part of a whole - a team working in partnership with students and families to support holistic growth and development during the middle and high school years. The ideal candidate is an educator who works collaboratively with other educators, seeks partnership, and works to see students as individuals, meeting them where they are in order to facilitate growth through rigorous academics coupled with appropriate supports. Responsibilities will include curriculum development for courses focused on building skills and knowledge related to early levels of Spanish language learning and cultural appreciation, (note that LuHi has an alternating block schedule, with classes meeting every other day for a longer block), differentiation of instruction based on specific needs of students, grading and feedback, participation in professional development, support of and participation in the school's advisory program, and support of and participation in campus ministry as needed.

Responsibilities include:

- Teach 3 sections of middle Spanish (level I)
- Collaborate and plan with other World Languages teachers and high school educators, as well as school leaders
- Other duties as assigned by school leadership

Desired Qualifications:

- Bachelor's Degree (Master's preferred)
- Certification in Spanish Education

Compensation:

- Salary Range: $50,000-$72,000 (commensurate with experience)
