

Russian-speaking Community Council, Inc. (RCC) - a 501(c)3 immigrant services and advocacy nonprofit based in Washington Heights - is looking for volunteer assistance from an experienced fundraising professional. Founded and led by refugees and exiles from several former Soviet countries, RCC has been incorporated in New York since 2011 and was, until recently, an all-volunteer organization. It provides direct services to asylum seekers and is an organizing and public awareness hub for the pro-immigrant and human rights-oriented part of the Russian-speaking diaspora. RCC has had contracts with the New York City Government and Catholic Charities and has earned recognition from the New York State Assembly.
